

AIG Establishes New Joint Venture to Expand UK High Net Worth Insurance Solutions

29 June 2016 – AIG Europe Ltd. (AEL) today announced it has entered into an agreement with Ascot Underwriting Ltd. and other partners to launch a joint venture to serve UK's high net worth insurance market.

The venture will be known as Azur Underwriting Ltd. and will operate as a managing general agent (MGA) on behalf of AEL. Azur will manage distribution relationships, provide underwriting and claims expertise, and continue to deliver risk mitigation services to AEL's existing and new high net worth clients. Azur will leverage latest technology capabilities to provide a market leading user experience for clients and brokers.

AEL expects key employees from its Private Client Group division to join Azur with Kate Wells, the current head of AEL PCG, transitioning to lead the new high net worth team at Azur.

Anthony Baldwin, CEO, AEL said: "The high net worth segment served by the Private Client Group is a high priority growth area for AIG. This is a great opportunity for AEL to increase access to the market and grow in the UK by leveraging the latest technology capabilities in underwriting and user experience to provide unique new value propositions for our brokers and clients. Azur will be starting from a position of strength and scale, managing AEL's existing private client portfolio with an established team of experts."

No financial terms are being disclosed. The deal is expected to close in the third quarter of 2016.
